BIOGRAPHY

Known to millions of car enthusiasts and collectors around the globe, Barris has been involved in making cars for Hollywood film, TV, advertising, celebrities and the music industry since the early 1950s. His hot rod creations for James Dean and his rebel without a cause are legendary and moved him into the big time.

In the 1960s, Barris was the ultimate movie star customizer. Elvis Presley, the Beatles, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, the Beach Boys, Sonny & Cher, Sean Connery, John Wayne & Bob Hope were just a few who owned Barris cars.

The 1970's and 80's really showed the talent and fantastic designs of Barris. They have been included in the Batman films, Mark Wahlberg's Rock Star, Jurassic park, back to the future, the Flinstones, Dick Tracy's Madonna Roadster, Johnny Depp's Willie Wonka, the new Dukes of Hazard, the knight rider KITT car and Starsky & Hutch's Torino.

Barris has received honors from around the world for his 50 years of pioneering work and contemporary excellence. He recently received the Saturn award from the Academy of Science Fiction and Fantasy for his life work, Lifetime Award from the Petersen Museum, & the Hall of Fame award from Mattel Hot Wheels.

George Barris has been profiled in the media world-wide including features in Vanity, Maxim, USA Today, NY Times, Parade, Emmy Magazine, and has appeared on the Discovery Channel, AMC, MTV, VH-1, Speed Channel, TV Land, LA Times, Entertainment Tonight, Access Hollywood, E-Channel & Tonight show. The most recent car Barris created was for the 2012 film, Arthur.
